

Amber Kinser

Motivational Speaker | Consultant | Coach |
Conflict Resolution Provider

SIGNATURE TALKS

Amber Kinser is a communication consultant and certified coach with a Ph.D. in interpersonal communication.

She draws from 23 years of leadership experience, certifications and ICF credentials in professional coaching, and professional training in conflict resolution and mediation.

Dr. Kinser has been teaching, training, and motivating academic and other professionals for over 20 years. As a communication expert, she focuses on “soft skill” honing, executive presence, and conflict resolution.

- ✓ Soft Skill Savvy that Makes Great Leaders
Content knowledge and technical skill are only useful if a leader can earn the trust and confidence of the people. Learn the 4 soft skills essential for building confidence.
- ✓ The Energy of Higher Leadership
Much of the training in leadership is outward facing. Dr. Kinser teaches an inward-facing perspective that changes how leaders show up in the world.
- ✓ Workplace Communication Strategies for Everybody
Communication breakdowns happen when differing communication styles clash. Dr. Kinser shows how to move deftly along the communication styles continuum
- ✓ The Surprising Organizational Cost of Imposter Syndrome and What to Do About It
Organizations take a major hit when their people play small. This presentation teaches how to mitigate those costs.

Sample Clients & Audiences

National Communication Association · Quillen College of Medicine · Society for Human Resource Management · Association for Talent Development · Virginia Tech University · Johnson City Medical Center · Upward Bound · Northeast State Community College · Professional Women's Network · Watauga Counseling Association · Museum of Motherhood · Nuclear Fuel Services · Organization for Women in Medicine · Quillen Cardiology Fellows Program · College Dean's Retreat, ETSU · Motherhood Initiative for Research & Community Involvement

KEYNOTE OUTCOMES

With a skillful blend of magnetic energy, expert knowledge, and sharp wit, Dr. Kinser:

- cultivates clients' communication skill, savvy, and confidence, transforming the way they lead, manage, and collaborate
- guides a comprehensive understanding of how each facet of a leader's communication style work, and how they can be improved and best utilized for optimal interpersonal and organizational outcomes
- models for would-be "impostors" and other low confidence leaders how to change their relationship with competence and move forward to innovation, engaged productivity, and an expanded leadership portfolio
- customizes her presentations to meet organizational/group needs
- offers a free hour of consulting or coaching with each presentation

Audiences are saying ...

Dr. Kinser uses her expertise in communication science to weave a story that engages her audience. She imparts information on a topic in a way that feels genuine and familiar, like having a conversation with a good friend.

—Dr. Joe Bidwell

Dr. Kinser's talk was powerful, vulnerable, and oh so relatable. She found the words to communicate feelings I've long had but couldn't quite express. I felt seen. It was a truly inspiring experience!

—Cara Harker

Many of us experience imposter-phenomenon but are afraid to admit our self-doubt. Because you shared your personal experience, you minimized the power that imposter feelings have in our lives.

—Dr. Stacey Williams

Amber Kinser
CONSULTING & COACHING

Get in Touch!

✉ amber@amberkinser.com

🌐 www.amberkinser.com

☎ 423-212-3406